

The Future of the Cultural Center of Cape Cod

In 2007, the Cultural Center of Cape opened its doors to great fanfare and an unending and incredibly diverse calendar of concerts, exhibits, plays, readings, classes and workshops for all ages and a variety of interests and abilities, programs for at-risk youth and other underserved populations, and partnerships with other nonprofit organizations in the arts, education, and human services. We are therefore well on our way to offering "All the Arts for All of Us," but the work is not done. To fulfill our mission, we must continue to make critical capital improvements.

307 Old Main Street is now a showcase for the arts, but there's still plenty to do:

- * Installation of a new septic system.
- * Resurfacing of the parking lot. Installation of curbs and striping.
- * Installation of exterior lampposts.
- * Repair and painting of basement.
- * And, most importantly ...

The Education Wing

The former Owl Club located next door will be the site of our environmentally respectful education wing with studios for recording, photography, ceramics, painting, writing, & music; classrooms for the visual, performing, & literary arts; a culinary arts kitchen; performance and exhibit space, and more. But we must first:

- * finalize architectural plans & engineering studies
- * construct the new wing with "green" materials and in a style that suits the historic district in which we are located

- * build a connector with a subterranean level that will connect the two buildings & provide an elevator shaft to permit access to their basements
- * create a sculpture garden and otherwise landscape the area between the two buildings by grading, planting, & creating walkways.

In 2010, the Yarmouth Community Preservation Committee awarded $400,000 for this project. In 2011, the MA Cultural Council awarded the project $250,000. And we've raised another $150,000 in private donations. We plan to raise another $100,000 to build the basic structure in 2012 while raising the additional funds we'll need to equip it. If you'd like to help, please get in touch.
